WOMAN FOUND DEAD IN POND

NUDE BODY PARTLY SUBMERGED IN ICY WATER.

NEWARK N. J. HAS MYSTERY

VICTIM EVIDENTLY A PERSON OF REFINEMENT.

POLICE HOLD TWO SUSPECTS

Screams of Woman Were Heard by Girls Passing Near Scene of Foul Deed—Death Due to Strangulation — Watchman Furnishes Important Clue.

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 26.—A murder, combining the elements of a mystery and deliberate cruelty that take it out of the ordinary, was committed in Hackensack meadows, in the town of Harrison, early today. The nude body of the victim, a comely woman of perhaps 30 years, nearly submerged in the icy waters of a little pond, only the feet protesting, was discovered this afternoon by a chance passerby. The ice in which the exposed portions were incrusted was broken and the body dragged ashore.

The dead woman was finely featured; her hair and nails gave evidence of a recent and scrupulous toilet, and such of her clothing as was subsequently found suggested, in its texture and style, an owner of refinement rather than one whose habits might lead her to frequent the vicinity of the ashes. The pool in which the body was thrown is close by the overflow from the Passaic river and is directly across the river from this city.

Body Not Identified.

The body had not been identified tonight, and it was pretty well established that it was not that of a resident of this city or Harrison. The description does not correspond with that of any woman reported to be for one as missing. Two men who owned a yacht moored near where the body was found, are detained by the police, but the most important clue obtained was furnished tonight by Peter Coogan, a watchman employed by the Marine engine company, who recognized the body as that of a woman on whom he had an unsuccessful attempt to commit suicide recently today. Later, he says, the man alone. He took carried a bundle in his arms. The man was short and stout.

Coogan, whose duties keep him in the neighborhood of the murder, told the police: "While the clocks at 2 o'clock this morning I saw this woman, in company with a man, cross the meadows, going in the direction of the pond. They passed so near me that I am able to recognize the woman's features. Some time later perhaps an hour, the man returned and again passed me, this time going in the direction from which the two had come when I first saw them. This time the man was alone. In his arms he carried a bundle which he had not had before. In build he was short and thick set."

Woman's Screams Heard.

Coogan could not give a better description. Two girls, returning to their home in Harrison, long after midnight this morning, heard a woman's cries floating over the marshland. They seemed to come from the direction of the pond, and to the startled girls sounded like "Spare me!" and "Help!"

Nearer home, the girls were approached by a well-dressed stranger, who accosted and followed them until a policeman was met with, whom he turned and fled. The girls had a good view of the man under an electric light, and while he was well and neatly dressed, his hands showed either that he was accustomed to manual labor or had recently been engaged in work that soiled his fingers.

Was Strangled to Death.

Life had been extinct, the coroner said, about 12 hours when the body was found this afternoon. A mark on the neck indicated that strangulation was the manner of death. Scratches on the hands and wrists, as well as cinder forced into the flesh, showed that the body had been dragged along the ground.

Along the path the police picked up a white silk waist slashed up the back, a skirt and a pair of silk garters. Following the path, the police came upon the yacht Idle Hour, which was tied up at a point on the Passaic about 200 feet from where the body was found. On the yacht, the police say, that they found a sealskin muff and a fur neck piece.

The occupants of the yacht were Albert Thompson, 41 years old, of Elizabeth; a boatman, and Frederick Kirkman, 25 years. Both were employed on the boat. Thompson said that he found the fur piece near the cinder path this morning. The police found on the boat, dishes enough for three diners. There were three plates, three saucers and so on. The men, however, said that they had no visitors on the Idle Hour. Both were arrested as suspicious characters. The police said tonight that they had practically nothing against the prisoners, but would detain them until further inquiry could be made.

Thompson bears a good reputation. He went to Elizabeth after coming to this country [illegible] England, and was employed as a molder until three weeks ago, when he came to this city. It was understood at the time that he [illegible]

PATTERSON ASSAULTED

FORMER SENATOR STRUCK DOWN BY F. G. BONFILS.

Warrant Sworn Out for Arrest of Assailant, Who Is Post Proprietor—Result Paper War.

DENVER, Dec. 26.—A warrant was sworn out tonight for the arrest of Fred G. Bonfils, one of the proprietors of the Denver Post. The warrant was sworn to by Former United States Senator Thomas M. Patterson, as the result of an encounter between the two men at an early hour this morning during which Senator Patterson was knocked down and painfully injured. The encounter was the culmination of a newspaper fight, which has been going on for some years between the proprietors of the Post and Senator Patterson, who is the principal stockholder of the News-Times Publishing company.

The stories of the two men differ as to the details of the encounter. Senator Patterson says Mr. Bonfils came up behind him and said "Good Morning." When he turned to see who addressed him, Senator Patterson states he was dealt a terrific blow which felled him, after which his assailant beat and kicked him before he could arise. He says he did not know who had hit him until after some men had separated them. He adds that Mr. Bonfils cursed him and threatened to kill him if his (Bonfils') name appeared again in the News or Times.

Mr. Bonfils states that the two men met and that a discussion arose over a threat Senator Patterson had made in the columns of the News to run Mr. Bonfils out of business or put him in the penitentiary. According to Mr. Bonfils, Mr. Patterson reiterated the threat and the fight started. Mr. Bonfils admits knocking the senator down, but claims justification on account of the senator's published and spoken language. Mr. Bonfils claims that Senator Patterson was accompanied by his son-in-law, Richard C. Campbell, when the encounter began. Senator Patterson is 70 years of age and Mr. Bonfils is about 41.

NEW BIDS CALLED FOR

SPRINGS CONTRACTORS WILL ENTER COMPETITION.

Work on Federal Building in This City Likely to Be Under Way by Spring.

The old bids for the construction of the new federal building in Colorado Springs have been rejected by the supervising architect at Washington and new bids will be advertised for at once. This was the announcement received yesterday in a telegram from Supervising Architect J. K. Taylor, who wired former Representative Franklin E. Brooks to that effect. Some weeks ago, in response to an effort made by Mr. Brooks to have the building erected of Colorado stone, the department held up the contract, revised the specifications, and called on the successful bidder, J. H. Wiese of South Omaha, to try and make his bid conform with the altered specifications. This he failed to do to the

BANKS SHOW A QUICK RECOVERY

NEW YORK INSTITUTIONS FILE STATEMENTS.

REVEAL EXCELLENT CONDITION

EFFECTS OF CRISIS, HOWEVER, ARE EVIDENT.

CLEARING HOUSE SAVED DAY

Certificates Issued Prevented Withdrawal of Much-Needed Money. Trust Companies Successfully Outrode the Storm—Better Than Before

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—Under call of the state banking department for reports of condition on December 18, 21 trust companies and 29 state banks of Greater New York have filed their formal statements. While the effects of the recent storm are plainly evident especially in regard to those institutions against which the attack seemed most direct, the statement as a whole lends testimony to the quick recovery generally made and the unwavering confidence of the great body of depositors. The reports also show that certain of the state banks of New York city did their share toward relieving the financial situation in other lines. This accomplished this by accepting over the usual custodial banks a large quantity of clearing house certificates, leaving the national banks in position to employ their cash in relief of customers and correspondents in the interior.

Many Banks Show Gain.

The 29 state banks of New York, Brooklyn and the other boroughs of Greater New York, which have so far reported, show aggregate deposits of $225,000,000. Of this enormous sum, the net loss in withdrawals since August 22 last, amounted to only $8,950,117. The 1,500 depositors, with total withdrawals of $17,922,561, of the 21 banks showed an aggregate gain of $16,869,644.

Allowing for all withdrawals and the purchase of clearing house certificates, which the new law authorizing the state banks indicated their prosperous condition by multiplying cash reserves in some instances far in excess of the 15 per cent required by state law. One of the largest holders of the certificates shows a reserve of 24 per cent.

Only one state bank took advantage of its membership in the clearing House association to issue certificates, which are now outstanding as a liability item of $520,000. Nine of the state banks hold clearing house certificates to the extent of $7,100,000. Loans and discounts show a decrease in the statement of 19 of the banks, while the names of stocks, bonds, mortgages, etc., as an item of resource, also show a material shrinkage. A majority of the banks show an increase of cash on hand.

Trust Company Situations.

The official statements of the trust companies of Greater New York are perhaps fraught with the greatest interest. The institutions were forced to bear the brunt of the financial storm, which broke with the suspension of the Knickerbocker Trust company. The 21 companies which have thus far reported show a falling off of deposits from $278,056,300 on August 22 last to $190,256,500 on December 19. The loss of deposits was accompanied by calling in of loans, the reduction in the latter item amounting to $75,000,000. The market values of stocks, etc., show a decline of about $20,000,000. In specie, the 21 trust companies show a loss of less than $2,000,000 while, in legal tenders and banknotes, held as reserve, they show an increase of nearly $1,000,000. The trust companies all were put to a severe test, but their business affairs, according to the reports now submitted, have been so adjusted that many of the officers declare they are in a better position today than ever before.

The report of the Trust Company of America, which withstood a run of many days, was awaited with much interest. It shows a net surplus in cash reserve of more than 5 per cent since August 1. The cash reserve of the company now on hand is $3,354,225, a percentage of 18.77 as against the legal 15 per cent requirement. The deposits of the company last August were something more than $11,000,000. The capital of the Trust Company of America, as well as the other companies submitting reports, stands unimpaired.

Withstood Severe Strain.

The showing of the Knickerbocker is made despite the fact that during the run it paid out more than $8,000,000. Part of this came from the $20,000,000 fund turned over to the institution by the committee of trust

CAPTAIN BAKER DIES

VICTIM OF DIABETES AFTER A DAY'S ILLNESS.

Was Pioneer and Prominent in Business and Fraternal Circles. Funeral Tomorrow.

After an illness lasting only 24 hours Captain Seth Baker, one of the oldest and most prominent residents of Colorado Springs, died at his home, 2005 North Tejon street, at 8 o'clock last night of diabetes. Until Christmas evening, Captain Baker had been apparently in his usual good health and until the day before Christmas, had been regularly at the office of the firm of Hallett and Baker, of which he was the senior member. The news of his sudden death came as a severe shock to his numerous friends in this city. Although Captain Baker was already 71 years of age, he retained his activity until the last and the end was totally unexpected by his friends and relatives.

Decline Was Rapid.

On Christmas night he complained of feeling ill and yesterday remained in bed under the care of a physician. Although everything possible was done to relieve him, the attack quickly developed critical symptoms and the end came at 8 o'clock, those at the bedside being his wife, his sons, Dr. A. R. Baker and Seth Baker, Jr., and his daughter, Miss Edith Lovett. He is survived also by a son, William G. Baker, a prominent merchant of

BLACKS ARE ON THE WAR PATH

Lynching of James Garden, a Negro, Kindles Fire of Hatred—State Troops May Be Ordered Out. Governor Haskell Will Investigate Outrage.

HENRIETTA, Okla., Dec. 26.—With every available fighting man sworn in as a deputy, and only 1,500 rounds of ammunition in the town, Henrietta is fearing a deadly race war as the result of the lynching of James Garden, a negro. Reports of armed negroes advancing upon the town have been received from both the Wildcat and Clearview settlements.

The firing of a small negro shack, owned by a white man, near the Frisco station this morning, caused a call to arms. Within five minutes after the fire alarm was given, nearly 100 armed men were prepared for an attack. Three citizens' patrols have been established.

Thirty-five negroes, heavily armed, passed through Wildcat today, inciting the blacks to revolt. They are camped on the river, within three miles of Henrietta. More than 30 armed blacks have

BUREAU OF NAVIGATION IS WITHOUT A HEAD.

WINSLOW IS ACTING CHIEF

PROPOSED ACTION OF PRESIDENT CAUSES TROUBLE.

CONGRESS WILL TAKE A HAND

Extended Controversy Threatened Over Rights and Rank of Staff and Line Officers—Wide Difference of Opinion Among Men of the Navy.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—There were no developments today in the Brownson-Rixey controversy except to the presence from Washington of the President. Admiral Brownson relinquished his position as chief of the bureau of navigation yesterday, and the duties of that office were discharged today by Commander Carl Ton Mohr. Winslow, as chief of the bureau of navigation, Commander Winslow was not designated or appointed chief of the bureau as the result of recent events, but signed all of his mail as "acting chief."

Rights of Officers.

Now that the [illegible] the President's proposed action in the matter of assigning a staff officer to the position of Surgeon Stokes, who commanded the hospital ship Relief, has been called in question, it is stated to state that the reliance of the line officers is upon a provision in Section 7 of the Naval Personnel act of March 3, 1899. That section, among other things, was designed to clear up doubt that existed as to the right of staff officers to assume the duties of a line officer of a corresponding grade in the matter of pay and emoluments and length of service. Up to that date, staff officers had enjoyed what was called "relative rank," with which they were not satisfied, so in section 7 the word "relative" was struck out so that sections of the revised statutes which in defining the rank of officers of [illegible] in the navy, contained the words "relative rank" were amended so as to read "the rank of." To this provision the following important qualification was attached: "But officers who so rank as so defined shall not be entitled, in virtue of their rank, to command in the line or in other staff corps."

Difference of Opinion.

Line officers understand this to mean that no surgeon or engineer officer there shall ever be again commissioned, engineers or paymaster or construction shall be placed in a position on board ship where he may command the movements and actions of any person not of his own staff corps.

The staff officers, for their part, hold that this act does not in any sense abridge any rank formerly enjoyed by the staff officers, and a careful perusal of the act appears to justify the statement that this provision is open to controversy, and that there is reasonable ground for difference of opinion as to the meaning of the law.

As this whole controversy threatens to occupy the attention of the public for some time to come, and supposed to figure to some extent in the proceedings of Congress, it may be proper to state the difference between the line and staff officer, about which the public mind is more or less confused. In brief, it may be said that a line officer is one whose sole duty is to fight the ship, while the staff officer is one who either provides the means for the line officer to do so, or acts under his direction in carrying out his general orders. Thus the engineer, when of the staff, looks closely after the machinery and starts and stops it when called upon to do so by the line officer; he has nothing to say as to where the ship shall go, or at what speed or when it shall move. Likewise, the surgeon on board ship look after the health of the crew in time of peace and heal their wounds in time of war, but have nothing to do with the movements of the ship to which they are attached, and the same rule applies to the paymaster and the constructor who builds the ship and [illegible] the line officer.

Former Decision.

It developed today that a year ago, when the board was put into existence, the decision was reached to assign a naval surgeon to command the vessel in the event that it was manned with a surgeon crew and master. But in the event that the ship was manned with a [illegible] crew [illegible] a naval officer of the line would be assigned to the command. The naval surgeon in command would have charge just as a physician would have supervision over a hospital on land, without, however, interfering with the work of navigating the vessel. Surgeon Stokes will be assigned to the command of the Relief [illegible] and [illegible] are [illegible] merchant marine, which, when [illegible] decided, is understood will be the case. Secretary Metcalf states today declined to enter into any discussion of the causes which prompted Admiral Brownson's resignation as chief of the navigation bureau and declared he knew nothing about the statements of Surgeon General Rixey that [illegible] of administration of the bureau of medicine and surgery had been [illegible] with [illegible] [illegible]

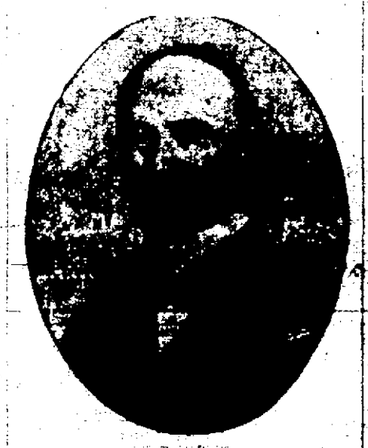
INDIANA FOR FAIRBANKS

VICE PRESIDENT'S NOMINATION URGED BY REPUBLICANS.

Action Is Taken at Biennial Love Feast Held at Indianapolis. Resolutions Adopted.

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 26.—Resolutions were adopted unanimously today at the biennial love feast of Indiana Republicans, urging the nomination of Vice President Charles W. Fairbanks for the presidency. The resolutions were introduced by Governor Frank Hanley and were received with a round of cheers by the thousand and more active party workers of the state who were present. The resolutions were as follows:

We, the Republicans of the state of Indiana, in biennial love feast assembled send greetings and felicitations to Charles



VICE PRESIDENT FAIRBANKS.

W. Fairbanks, vice president of the United States, and turn to him for leadership in the pending presidential campaign. We have often trusted him and have many times given him a commission.

His whole life in public and the home, his clearness of concept, his poise of character, his conservative courage and his great ability have long appealed to us.

His love of the people, from whose loins he came, the faith he has ever manifested in American institutions and in the Republican principles, his experience in public affairs, the support he has given President Roosevelt in the Senate and in his present high office, and the memory of the confidence and affection in which the late President McKinley held him, lead us to declare him great and loyal and brave enough to deal with the new conditions now before the country.

We ask his leadership with full confidence in his wisdom and his patriotism, and promise in return our highest efforts and best endeavor to secure for him the commission of his party at the national convention to be assembled at Chicago next June.

United States Senator Albert J. Beveridge presided and made the principal address, dwelling on the notable accomplishments of the vice president during his public career, and averring that the Indiana delegation would stand solidly by him in the national convention.

Others present included Senator Hemenway, many of the Indiana Republicans in Congress, members of the legislature, county officials, and a number of candidates for places on the state ticket with their friends. The gathering was large and enthusiastic.

CASE IS OUTLINED BY THE DEFENSE

DARROW APPEARS IN COURT TOO ILL TO STAND.

MOTION FOR ACQUITTAL DENIED

FATE OF PETTIBONE MUST BE DECIDED BY JURY.

JUDGE REVIEWS EVIDENCE

Declares That Facts Already Presented Tend to Show That a Conspiracy Existed and That the Defendant Was Connected Therewith.

BOISE, Dec. 26.—Too ill to stand while speaking to the jury, Clarence Darrow, chief counsel for the defense in the Pettibone trial, sat in his chair this afternoon as he outlined his case. He spoke with effort at times and never raised his voice above a conversational tone. The members of the jury and an audience that crowded the court room, listened to every word from the Chicago attorney's lips as he explained the theory of the defense. Darrow's statement made it evident that, to a great degree, the same line of defense would be followed as in the Haywood trial.

He reviewed briefly the early life of Pettibone in Pennsylvania and of his coming west and engaging in mining in the Coeur d'Alenes, where he became president of the Gem union. In 1892, Darrow said, the defendant left the Coeur d'Alenes and never engaged in mining again. It was a number of years after he went to Denver," continued Darrow, "that Pettibone heard of the Western Federation of Miners. But one day he learned of a convention that was to be held, and he attended it, becoming acquainted with the officers and leading members. He was later made an honorary member of the organization. He never attended a meeting of a local union in his life, never paid any dues and never had anything to do with forming policies of the organization."

Pettibone Blameless.

Darrow called attention to the alleged indignities to Simpkins in Coeur d'Alenes "bull pens," saying that he had felt very bitter over it, but Pettibone and Moyer had nothing to do with the troubles of 1899, and had no feeling in the matter. He told of the passing of the eight-hour law in Colorado, of the supreme court declaring it unconstitutional, of the adoption of a constitutional amendment, of the failure of the legislature to act, and of the smeltermen's strike at Colorado City and the resulting strike at Cripple Creek, which he characterized as the greatest labor war in the history of the country and the most disastrous to organized labor.

Harry Orchard was referred to by Darrow as a man always looking for easy money, who never stuck to anything except gambling. He told of Orchard's transferring his interest in the Hercules to Gardener, from whom he always had the hope of getting his claim check, and said the defense would show that he tried to sell this interest a year after he had disposed of it to Gardener. Darrow continued:

Would Have to Be Shown.

"We will prove to you by 15 or 20 witnesses that Orchard swore vengeance on Steunenberg for the alleged loss of his rich Hercules interests. The only other man who had any interest in taking the life of Steunenberg was Jack Simpkins, and it would have to be shown that he had anything to do with it, before I would believe it."

Darrow declared that while Orchard was drawing benefits from the miners' union, he was being paid as a detective for the other side, and that he had claimed credit for a good many crimes with which he had nothing to do.

"The defense will show," he said, "that the Vindicator explosion was a pure accident, and that Orchard had nothing whatever to do with it. We expect to show that Orchard went out and hunted up all the crimes he could and claimed them as his own, boasting frequently of crimes which he never committed. He is a monomaniac for claiming crimes as his own which are not his."

Taking up the Independence depot explosion, Darrow said he did not wish to charge the mine owners with intentionally killing anyone, but that this explosion occurred while Orchard was working for Scott and Sterling. "Judge Gabbert is going to have to send troops back," he said, "but they will be a mistake of a few leaders and not a lot of men they never intended to [illegible]

Details of Conspiracy.

BOISE, Ida., Dec. 26.—[illegible] this morning denied the motions filed by the defense [illegible] that a verdict of acquittal be advised by the court. In overruling the motion to advise acquittal for want of sufficient corroborative evidence, Judge Wood reviewed the incriminating testimony of each of the witnesses for the state. He stated that in his opinion there was sufficient corroboration of each of these witnesses to submit the case to the jury. Concerning the [illegible] Judge Wood said: "[illegible] the [illegible] in evidence tend to [illegible]

Conditions of Big Pledge.

The pledge of $75,000 which raised the Colorado College endowment fund from $375,000 to $450,000 was not only conditional upon the full amount being raised, but upon the additional $50,000 being raised by the people here as an evidence of their appreciation of Colorado College and their interest in its future welfare. This announcement was made yesterday by R. W. Chisholm, secretary of the citizens committee, in an open letter in which he urged the importance of a general response in order to save the $400,000 fund.

Up to the present time not more than 200 families or heads of families are represented in the $43,133.50 that has been subscribed. This is about 3 per cent of the families of the city. With $6,866.50 yet to be raised and only four working days in which it can be secured, the committee feels that the community at large should express its willingness to exert itself to meet the present crisis and save the $400,000 to Colorado College.

Everyone Must Help.

While several large gifts will be necessary, the members of the committee believe that the small subscriptions, from $100 down, must be relied upon to complete the fund. They do not feel that they can call upon any one or two wealthy or old-time supporters of the college to make up any deficit that may exist next Tuesday evening, and believe that the citizens and business men generally should take it upon themselves to see that the entire $50,000 is raised before the expiration of the time limit.

How to Send Subscriptions.

In view of the limited time, hundreds of people who should be seen by the members of the committee and canvassers for the fund will of necessity be missed. All persons are urged to send in their subscriptions without waiting for a personal call from the committee. This can be done by clipping from The Gazette the blank which appears on the first page of the paper, or by calling or telephoning to the headquarters, room 8, Chamber of Commerce building. The phone number is Main 238.

Subscriptions continued to come in slowly yesterday, a total of $1,631.50 being secured. This raises the total amount to date to $465,133.50. A large number of pledges, however, came in, thus indicating that the movement is assuming a more and more general co-operation—the thing that is necessary if the campaign is to be carried to a successful conclusion.

Chisholm Makes Statement.

A plain and exact statement of the situation was made yesterday by Secretary R. W. Chisholm, in behalf of the citizens' committee. He emphasizes particularly the necessity of a general response to the call for subscriptions. His statement is as follows:

To the People:

Christmas day and the preparation for it has greatly hindered the work of the Citizens' committee in charge of the campaign for the balance of pledges necessary to complete the conditional amount of endowment on which $402,000, already pledged, depends.

With this serious interruption over, your committee and the solicitors associated with us in the work, will renew their greatest endeavors and see as many as may be possible; but we appeal to the people to not wait to be called upon, as only a few days remain to raise a very considerable sum, and it will be impossible to see many. Our success so far makes the situation more desperate as to fail through overconfidence, for a few thousand dollars, would be a great disaster, and how many would say, "Had I only known." We may fail unless a great many send in pledges of moderate and small amounts, as many of our wealthiest men and women have made pledges which count back of this balance we are now working on; they figure in the $450,000 with which we started this campaign, and their names will appear later. We have canvassed all from whom we can hope for large sums, and the balance must come from many in smaller amounts.

Is a Small Percentage.

We are said to have a population of thirty thousand people. It is usual in taking the census to figure five persons to a family, on which basis we must have six thousand families. The pledges so far represent the aid of 200 families, counting each head of a family interested in a business firm or corporation. Therefore, $43,000 has been pledged by only 3 per cent of the families or heads of families in the city. This does not seem as though the crisis in the affairs of or college is appreciated by all, or even many, of our people, and still it has been presented and urged daily through the kind and keen interest of the generous people. All seems to indicate that many are deluded into the belief (and it is natural), that if we are short, the balance will be subscribed by one or other of the past liberal supporters of the institution. Therefore, I am noble to be very plain in stating THAT THE PLEDGE OR PLEDGES, OF $75,000 APPEARING ON THE $375,000 NEEDED TWO MONTHS AGO ARE NOT ONLY CONDITIONAL UPON THE FULL AMOUNT BEING RAISED, BUT UPON ITS BEING RAISED BY OUR PEOPLE HERE, AS AN EVIDENCE OF OUR INTEREST IN THE COLLEGE, OUR DEVOTION TO THE CITY'S INTEREST, OUR WILLINGNESS TO EXERT OURSELVES TO MEET AN EMERGENCY, AND TO MAKE SOME PERSONAL SACRIFICE, IF NEED BE, IN APPRECIATION OF THE BENEFIT THAT A GREAT EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTION ON A FIRM FINANCIAL BASIS WILL BE TO THE CITY. Many college towns in the country are supported entirely by the college trade. Our college is unquestionably directly responsible for a total [illegible] in the annual labor people of a class which are essentially desirable from the standpoint of the merchant. Firmly established as it will be with an additional endowment of half a million dollars, which will yield $30,000 a year additional income, it will continue to exert its great influence in the steady increase of our population, if it fails now, and the interest of many large, is meeting a steadily increasing annual deficit, and its scope and efficiency is curtailed, many families would move to other places offering the same climatic conditions with a higher standard of educational facilities. The college now, through maintenance, faculty and students, spends $300,000 a year in the community. Fail in this great crisis and this benefit may be greatly reduced, or even entirely lost, meet the emergency and in five years the attendance may be reasonably expected to double, and there will mean half a million dollars or more annually, in trade to the town. This would be the equivalent of two colleges as it now exists, and what a tremendous effort we would make to secure another such institution, or manufacturing plant which would make such an increase in our trade and by the city's growth and increased importance, maintain and enhance our property values.

Over three-quarters of a million of dollars has already gone into construction and equipment. Increased capacity means increased income, the continued requirement of much material and all kinds of labor.

Much at Stake.

It was fair in this great crisis, and this great opportunity of showing our appreciation of the college and of what its liberal supporters [illegible] and every philanthropist have done and are doing for it, for it, indeed, that support will be forever lost. Whereas if we win out, by Tuesday night through securing the balance of the $450,000 which we started out to raise under the most unfavorable financial conditions which have confronted the nation in many years, the college will stand high in the estimation of its old and new friends. It will be in line for further gifts for buildings and equipment and a steady increase in its endowment through gifts and bequests. Over this broad land Colorado Springs will be heralded as having accomplished what no other city of many times its size could have done, or would even have attempted under such general conditions. The state of Colorado has felt the recent panic less than any other in the union, and Colorado Springs has been less affected than any other city.

IT IS USUAL TO SAY "WHAT WOULD WE DO WITHOUT CRIPPLE CREEK?" STOP AND THINK WHAT WOULD WE DO WITHOUT OUR COLLEGE? BOTH ARE A GREAT ADVANTAGE TO US, BUT IT IS ONLY UNDER THESE CRITICAL CONDITIONS DEMANDING MOST SERIOUS THOUGHT, THAT WE ARE MADE TO APPRECIATE THE GREAT IMPORTANCE OF THE COLLEGE TO THE CITY.

When the citizens' committee, composed of the presidents and another member of each of our business and professional organizations, after keeping its organization quiet for over two months, voted unanimously twelve days ago to undertake the raising of this $50,000 balance when the $75,000 more was announced to us, it was decided to endeavor to secure five pledges of $5,000 each to announce at the gathering held four days later at the Alamo hotel. This was thought best as it would encourage many to join in the work, and if the full amount then still remained to be raised, the undertaking would appear as greatly discouraging, if not impossible. At great personal inconvenience, even family sacrifice, four men made such pledges in this hope.

Nothing Being Held Back.

It seemed at first as though many formed the opinion from this that it would "come easy"—that the wealthy men of the city would do it all, and many, many times even now when the public understands the situation, the excuse for not giving is "It will be made up." Now the returns show a very general appreciation of the seriousness of the situation. All classes of people are responding, but to win it must be recognized by all the people of the city. We have absolutely nothing "up our sleeves." No person here or elsewhere has intimated that they will make up any amount which we may be short at midnight of Tuesday next. It is the intention of this committee that no such person will be asked at the last minute to "save the day." WE MUST RAISE ALL OF THE $50,000 OURSELVES. It would be a lasting disgrace to us to fail in helping ourselves to this extent when others have done so much for us.

All of the foregoing is from the business standpoint, in addition to which it must be remembered that our college is the great power of the Rocky Mountain region for good and for the advancement of our great state. $6,866.50 is needed and only four days in which

Hungry As a Bear and Can't Eat

If, When Mealtime Comes, You Suffer From a Yes-Not Kind of Hunger, You're a Dyspeptic.

How to Cure All Stomach Troubles.

A good many people get mad when you tell them they've got dyspepsia, but way down deep in their stomachs they know they've got it.

"I'd love to eat it, but I can't," is one kind of dyspepsia.

"I hate to think of it," is another kind. There are thousands of people today who hate their meals, and love them at the same time. They haven't that fine empty-hungry eat-everything-in-sight kind of feeling which goes with every good, strong, healthy stomach. That's because they have dyspepsia. And then there are others whose mouths don't water at meal time or at any other time. They sit at the table and go through the motions, only because it's time to eat. These people, too, are dyspeptics.

Every possible kind of stomach trouble can be cured by taking something which will just take right hold of all the food in your stomach and digest it alone without the help of the stomach, and let the stomach take a rest.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do this very thing. They are composed of the best digestives known to science, and are absolutely safe. One ingredient alone of one of these tablets will digest 3,000 grains of food! These tablets don't tell the stomach a good strong, healthy stomach does.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets cure all cases of dyspepsia, indigestion, burning or irritation, loss of appetite, blost, brash, belching, aversion to food, fermentation and gas on the stomach.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will make you feel "good" before and after each meal, and make your stomach strong and healthy again. They will make you happy.

Send us your name and address today, and we will at once send you by mail a simple package, free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

COTTON MILL INTERESTS WILL HOLD DOWN OUTPUT.

Congestion of Goods and Falling in Prices Feared if Plants Continue to Operate Full Time.

BOSTON, Dec. 26.—The Arkwright club, which represents the cotton mill interests of New England, at a meeting here today formally voted to curtail production 25 per cent between now and March 1 in order to relieve conditions in the cloth markets of New York, Chicago, Boston and other large centers. It was stated several days ago that a committee appointed by the club to [illegible] the different mills had found sufficient sentiment to insure the success of the curtailment plan, and that a restriction of production was regarded as a certainty. The cotton mills of New England employ about 175,000 persons under normal conditions, and this curtailment is at least 50,000 will be affected by the short time. The curtailment agreement became operative today, although numerous mills have been shut down since Tuesday night.

The agreement will affect a large majority of Fall River print cloth mills, the fine goods mills of New Bedford, the Amoskeag corporation of Manchester, employing 13,000 hands, and most of the other New Hampshire factories, the York corporation of Saco, the Pepperell mill at Biddeford, the mills of Lewiston, Waterville, Brunswick and other Maine points; those in Lowell, employing 20,000, Lawrence, Holyoke and Chicopee, Mass., and mills controlled by large Rhode Island interests.

The mills in Thorndyke, Rockville, Palmer, Ware and Warren, Mass., and Greenville and New Ipswich, N. H., controlled by Bliss Fabyan and company of New York and Boston, adopted a short-time policy a month ago, as did the Manchester mills of Claremont, N. H. These and several other concerns will reach the end of their curtailment period before the factories in the large centers.

More than 80 per cent of the spindles in New England are represented in the agreement. A majority of the mills run four days during January and February, closing Thursday nights, thus including Saturday a short week day, in the shutdown. Mills, which have contracts calling for delivery during the winter, are at liberty to reduce their production 25 per cent partially before March 1 and the remainder after that date. The method of reducing is left largely to the discretion of managers.

According to some of the officers of the textile unions, the operatives prefer to work four days a week rather than be cut unously 25p for a period of nearly three weeks.

The curtailment movement originated in New York commission houses, which feared a congestion of goods and falling prices in the spring of the mills continued to operate in full all winter.

JUDGE LEWIS ON LAND FRAUDS.

ONE of the most important decisions rendered by Judge Lewis since he took his place on the Federal bench was that delivered last Tuesday in the Riggs case. It is also one of the most important decisions yet made in any court in connection with the alleged land frauds which have been under investigation for several years past. It has brought the Land Office up with a round turn and if it is confirmed on appeal by the highest court, as we have no doubt it will be carried up by the prosecution—it will have the effect of quashing hundreds of indictments and incidentally of spiking many columns of sensational copy.

Briefly the main points of the decision are first that it is not a crime under United States law for a man to transfer to another land which he has taken up under the timber and stone act even though he intended such tranferral at the time he acquired the land and second that the United States Land Office cannot make a crime of such transferral at all by establishing rules of its own—rules such as in this case requiring the applicant to make affidavit that he did not intend to and will not transfer his land to anybody else. Judge Lewis insists that the only legislation by the Congress and that offenses in the executive departments have no right to change the law by either subtraction or addition.

It has been a great pleasure of late to watch the United States courts in instance after instance have upheld fundamental legal and constitutional principles against encroachment of either legislative or executive character. From the decision of the Supreme Court in the Kansas Colorado case—a decision whose epoch making importance is scarcely yet appreciated—to this latest decision in our own district there has been a succession of them, in various parts of the Union which must be gratifying to any intelligent and judicious observer. The stability of our republican institutions depends upon the courts and we rejoice to know that in our Federal judiciary we have a body of men—with now for a long while a notable exception—devoted to their country learned in the law and fearless in their application of it to the cases before them.

BROWNSON AND RILEY.

THE sudden resignation of Admiral Brownson as head of the Bureau of Navigation has not yet been officially explained, but the story that it was due to a difference of opinion as to who should be in command of the battleship fleet in the event of the big fleet in a plausible one. Surgeon-General Rixey has given his side of the contention that the fleet might always to be commanded by physicians. He says they are simply boat managers, and should be in charge of doctors while navigation is a mere detail, a subordinate matter, and the sailing master should be under the orders of the doctor in charge of the patients.

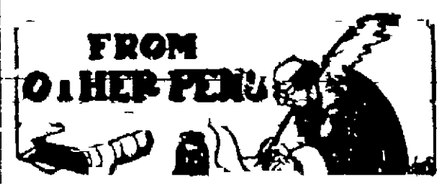
At first sight this seems proper and plausible enough, and all the more because in time of war the wounded by line officers might not be able to look with decency to respect them as "real sailors." It is said that is the principal reason why the Japanese put their hospital ships in charge of surgeons. But there may be, and probably is, another side of the matter, and Admiral Brownson is entitled to be heard if he chooses. It is hardly likely that he would, however, for he is trained chiefly with a view to handling ships, and past by he desires now that it is possible that the fact that no hospital ship is now in attendance on the fleet has something to do with the recent resignation. Dr. Rixey says no provision for having the hospital ships join the fleet has been made until they arrive at Magdalena Bay on the California coast. It does not seem strange that the fleet should go nearly the whole journey without so useful a conductor. Of course it is different from what it would be in time of war, when many wounds would be likely to be hurt, while here no more than the usual number of cases abound ships need be expected, but it would seem that an opportunity for good practice was lost to the medical service and the hospital ships by waiting so long for them to join the fleet.

If it be true, as alleged that an American in the city of Mexico has discovered eighteen of the twenty one documents taken from Lieutenant Zebulon M. Pike when he was captured by the Mexicans in 1806, it may prove to be news of great importance. Of course he was able afterwards to write a narrative of his expedition, but the original notes—probably containing part of his diary—should be very valuable. Copies should be made, and one should be secured by the Colorado Historical Society for preservation among its treasures.

The state of Florida has shown the world that there is more than one William J. Bryan. The Governor has appointed him Senator of the United States to fill out Senator Mallory's term. He will be one of the youngest members of the Senate, if not youngest of all, for he was born in 1876. Mr. Beveridge must look to his laurels as the champion boy orator. From this time on so far as official position is concerned, William James Bryan will be a bigger man that William Jennings Bryan.

The big fleet was coaling up yesterday and soon it will start away for still more southern ports. Rio Janeiro is the next stop for the battleships while the tenders will put in at Punta del Este on their way. At least until after they have left Rio news from the ships will be sent quite often. After that it will be a long pull to the next telegraph station.

The fire in Boulder should be a warning to all in these breezy days. The greatest care should be exercised especially in emptying hot ashes. Many fires have been caused in the past by careless ness in this one respect.



THE BOY A HOUSEWRECKER

The best gift for a boy according to this society for the promotion of industrial education is a box of carpenters tools. NEWS OF THE LOCAL COURTS

Thomas Love, colored, a boarding house keeper at Pajeton, was arrested yesterday by Constable W. P. Larrabee on a warrant sworn to by John Young, also colored, charging him with assault. A liberal supply of liquor in honor of Christmas was the cause of the fight. Love pleaded guilty before Justice Dunnington, giving as his excuse that he did not know what he was doing when he tried to beat up Young, against whom he had no grievance. He will be given a hearing tomorrow.

The money demand suit of R. A. Barron against John and Ona Mosley will be heard in the district court today. The suit concerns commission on the sale of property.

A suit for the recovery of $1,090, said to be the value of furniture held by Martha Perkins, was brought in the district court yesterday by Mollie Spear, who alleges that the defendant took the goods wrongfully from a storage warehouse.

In the police court yesterday E. O. Klatt was fined $10 and costs on the charge of drunkenness and disturbance and H. O. Shutt, his brother-in-law, was given a like sentence on a similar count. Both men were without money and are working out the sentence on the rock pile. A warrant on the charge of wife beating and nonsupport was sworn to by Humane Officer Neff against Klatt with the intention of holding him in the justice court, but this action has been dropped on the refusal of the wife to appear against him. The wife complained to the police on Christmas day that she was without a "loaf of bread in the house" and had been beaten by her husband. Relief was provided through the agency of the police.

IDLE FEW A MENACE

NOT THE BUSY MANY, SAYS DR. E. A. STEINER.

Declares America Should Encourage Immigration and Gives Reasons Why.

"The economic menace is always among the idle few, not among the busy many."—Dr. Edward A. Steiner.

The foregoing argument was the basic foundation and central thought of the lecture, "One the Trail of the Immigrant," delivered before a representative audience at the Opera House last night by Dr. Edward A. Steiner, the eminent sociologist, author and traveler, who appeared under auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Star course.

Himself of foreign extraction and an emigrant to America at an early age, Dr. Steiner speaks from actual experience of the motives that impel residents of foreign lands to seek America. These, too, find in him a strong defender.

"No man is so poor or so ignorant," said he, "but that he brings something into this country by adoption, something of value, something that we can with profit incorporate into our national life.

Emigrants are not animals or beasts. They have their ideals and high standards of morality, and young, strong and industrious, they are a valuable acquisition."

Dr. Steiner denies that the emigrant depresses the standard of living, and declares that none are more firm in demanding a fair wage for their work. Their homes are patterned after those of native citizens, and nothing is too good for their families.

The prevailing antipathy to foreigners arises from racial dissimilarities, says Dr. Steiner, and not from a feared invasion of the industrial field. With acquisition of our customs, language and modes of living, the foreigner is gradually assimilated, becoming thoroughly American in every sense of the term.

Dr. Steiner believes that American citizens have a duty to perform in extending fair recognition to the emigrant who, forsaking the land of his birth, comes to America to establish a home, where he can enjoy political liberty and industrial opportunity.

Dr. Steiner has worked in the fields, shops and mines with this type of foreigners that he might study them closely, and finds that there are few, if any, who are not worthy of becoming true American citizens.

Dr. Steiner will remain in the city until Monday. He will speak at the Y. M. C. A. on Sunday afternoon.

PALMER OFFERS SITE

ROSWELL IS LIKELY TO HAVE NEW SCHOOL HOUSE.

Residents of That Section of City Petition Board of Education for School Building.

With new impetus given the movement by the offer of a site from General William J. Palmer, school patrons and residents of Roswell yesterday petitioned the board of education that a school building be erected in that section of the city, nearer to its center of population. Children living in [illegible] are compelled to attend the Bristol and Roswell schools, which are situated quite a distance from their homes, subjecting them to considerable delay and inconvenience.

The site offered by General Palmer, 200 by 200 feet, is situated in the northwestern portion of the addition, and will be deeded to the school district in the event that the board of education decides to erect a building. The matter was referred to the committee on grounds, who will investigate the necessity of a new school building in that district.

Although plans have not been definitely formed, a two-story frame structure will probably replace the school building near the Curtis mine, destroyed by fire a week ago. In the meantime, school will open next month in the Miners Union hall, which has been rented for that purpose.

Rescued now, Colorado College will in five years be spending annually half a million of dollars with our tradesmen, and should average $50,000 per annum in material and labor for new buildings.

The Acacia Hotel will be conducted on both American and European plans.

KILLED BY PASSENGER TRAIN

E. M. Shain, employed by the D. & R. G. railroad as a track walker between Greenland and Palmer Lake, instantly killed yesterday afternoon by passenger train No. 6, bound for Denver.

Shain was returning from Greenland to Palmer Lake at the time of the accident walking on the track. There was a strong wind blowing and he had his head bent forward in order to ward it off as best as he could, thus being unable to see or hear the approaching train. The body was brought to Palmer Lake. Coroner Law went to that place yesterday afternoon to investigate and decided to hold no inquest. The body was brought to this city and is at the Fairleys & Law undertaking rooms. Funeral arrangements will not be made until word is received from the dead man's relatives in the east.

It has been estimated that each student of Colorado College spends on an average $100 a year in Colorado Springs. An increase of one hundred students each year means $10,000 per annum continuous increase in its trade volume.

PIE WAGON ATTACKED BY THE ENEMY.

From the New York Tribune

A gorgeous delivery wagon bearing emblazoned on its panels the enchanting legend Pies of all kinds passed slowly up Park Row yesterday Two youngsters of the tribe which inhabits City Hall park looked longingly at the wagon for a moment Then they did something else

The wagon had a couple of steps attached to the rear end for the convenience of the driver in handing out the pies The driver a portly German did not see the urchins as they mounted the steps and grabbed a few pies Their greed, though caused their undoing for in snatching the pies they knocked over a box of those mysterious creations of the baker's art which poised for a moment on the tailboard of the wagon then followed the boys into the street

Park Row was treated then to the sight of a rotund Teuton irate and red of face pursuing two nimble gamins with a small sufficient assortment, but with much better long-range German oaths It was a case of battleship and torpedo boat The driver finally picked up his box and repaired to the pie cart, while the boys out near Broadway gorged themselves with assorted loot Their regrets came later.

What the Press Agents Say

"RAFFLES" WOULD WAVE HUMILIATED SHERLOCK HOLMES.

"Raffles" is the antithesis of Sherlock Holmes and greater than Sherlock Holmes. Such is the opinion expressed in New York and other American cities of the famous drama, "Raffles, the Amateur Cracksman," in which S. Miller Kent and a splendid company will appear at the Opera House tomorrow evening. The play was written by E. W. Hornung and Eugene Presbrey who use as a foundation the sketches published in two volumes by Mr. Hornung under the title of "The Amateur Cracksman", and "Raffles" respectively. The authors go to daring lengths, seeming to argue that crime is a disease and that criminals are irresponsible. The adventure of the Melrose diamonds is the one wisely selected for presentation of this argument and to give to the stage an entirely new and fascinating character in "Raffles," the gentleman-burglar-philanthropist. For conflict of forces the authors furnish a specialist in crime who would plunge Sherlock Holmes into despair and make his good friend, Mr. Watson, weak with amazement. This is Captain Bedford, the detective. Raffles and Captain Bedford have it nip and tuck throughout the play, but Bedford is not the only person on the stage whom Raffles foils.

SEATS FOR "GEORGE WASHINGTON, JR."

The sale of reserved seats begins this morning for the most notable booking of the season in the musical comedy line to be seen at the Opera House next Monday evening of the Cohan & Harris comedians in George M. Cohan's most famous success, "George Washington, Jr.," a musical play in three acts and four scenes, which will be presented by a very superior company assisted by a Cohanesque chorus of beauty and ability. Willis P. Sweetnam will be seen in his original role of Eaton Ham. Mr. Sweetnam is one of the best known delineators of darky characters who has ever appeared upon the American stage. Long a star in the best minstrel companies touring the country, he became known to thousands of theater-goers, but his work was crowned with its greatest success when he created the role of Eaton Ham, one of Mr. Cohan's most delightful character drawings. The character is that of a "flip-hunting" negro, who has charge of the grounds surrounding the home of the father of his country at Mount Vernon, Va. The title role formerly played by George M. Cohan in this season assumed by Carter De Haven, a clever young comedian who has long been identified as a headliner in vaudeville.

"THE DEVIL'S AUCTION."

Charles H. Yale's "Everlasting Devil's Auction" which is now announced as presenting the twenty-sixth edition of this really wonderful show-piece, is announced as a forthcoming ATTRACTION AT THE OPERA HOUSE next Tuesday evening.

Manager Yale states that most elaborate changes have been made in the latest edition, in the way of new and very capable artists, magnificent scenic accessories, superb costuming, and exclusive vaudeville novelties and the most elaborate transformation scene called "Amor" ever presented in this country.

AN IRISH ROMANCE.

A great deal of interest is manifested in the coming to the Opera House, matinee and night, New Years day, of the talented young actor-singer, Allen Doone, in his new and successful comedy-drama, "A Romance in Ireland," in which he will portray the part of "Larry O'Daly," a dashing Irish laddie. Wee adventures, both comical and sensational, are said to furnish very attractive dramatic material. The play is said to possess many unique features, and to be rich in wholesome, witty dialogue. Its action being laid in the County Mayo, Ireland, in the picturesque seventeenth century, the costuming will be a delighted treat to the eye. "A Romance in Ireland" is divided into four acts and eight scenic settings, and will be enacted, in addition to Mr. Doone, by a company of undoubted excellence. Manager George W. Kenney promises an adequate production complete in every detail, and filling an entire baggage car. As in "The Kerry Gow," in which he first earned the title of "Joseph Murphy's successful successor," Mr. Doone will display his sweet, sympathetic tenor voice in a number of new songs, and own inimitable manner. A pleasing feature will be the introduction of the old-time folk-songs and dances.

A Scene From "Raffles," the Attraction at the Opera House Tomorrow Evening.

REAL EAGLES OFFER PROTEST

Don't Like Manner in Which They Have Been Libeled by Portraits on New Coins.

From New York World.

Feathered opposition to the new gold pieces adopted concrete form yesterday when prominent eagles from all parts of the country gathered on the roof of the city hall and screamed their displeasure at the manner in which they have been libeled by the government. The bird of freedom on the back of the $20 gold piece was especially vehement in its denunciation of everybody connected with the new coinage scheme.

"Nobody will ever know how mortified I felt when I picked up the papers yesterday morning and saw that burlesque likeness of me," said the heartbroken bird. "And the worst of it is, I agree with my critics. One of them said I looked like a half portion of pullet, and that's about the size of it."

"Let's get down to business and attend to the press later," suggested the bald eagle, who occupied the chair and who sported a tail feather bearing the words, "I am a Democrat." This decoration was the cause of a hearted discussion.

"Pardon the presumption on my part," said the American eagle in a shrill voice, "but it is my opinion that the Chair should discard that political headdress. This organization is not the asset of either party."

"I mean no offense in wearing it," said the Chair. "It was given to me by an old friend when he retired from the arena three years ago. What is the pleasure of the delegates?"

"The Chair's query is altogether superfluous," said a dwarfed eagle flying to the top of the flagpole where all could hear him. "Having held steady government jobs since 1776, the deliberation of this convention will probably be regarded as mutinous by live fortunate birds who have not had the protection of the Declaration of Independence and the Monroe doctrine thrown around them. It has been pretty soft for us, but when in the course of ornithological events it becomes necessary for the mechanics at the mint to give us the choice of appearing ridiculous in the eyes of our friends or quitting the job, I believe it is up to the head and tail contingent to step down and out.

"Take my own case as an example of the humiliation to which our proud calling has been subjected. I'm standing at attention on the back of the $5 piece. Just notice the attitude. I look like a frozen partridge outside a fish market."

"You haven't got much of a kick coming," spoke up the $10 eagle. "You look like some kind of a bird. But look at me! They've got me in trousers, and such trousers! They must have been cut with a knife and fork. Who ever heard of a bird in trousers?"

"I just come down from the Museum of Natural History," said a plump-looking eagle. "You birds don't know when you are well off. If President Roosevelt gets a third term"—

"Put him out!" shouted the Chair. "He's stuffed!"

The sergeant at arms dropped the third-term boomer off the roof, and after a committee was appointed to seek relief from Congress the convention adjourned.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Dec. 26.—The mines closed down for the Christmas holiday resumed as usual today. Few mines were active yesterday, and the exceptions were those properties where pumping was necessary, or repairs to machinery required. The contractors engaged in sinking the shaft on the Cameron School section, kept at work as it was necessary to keep raising [illegible] will commence shipping heavily after the first of the year to the Golden Cycle mill.

A carload shipment of four-ounce ore was loaded out today from the Bernard and Weare lease on the Bonanza King on Gold hill. The lessees operating through the Midget main shaft, at a depth of 150 feet from surface, followed the vein exposed in the Midget workings into the Bonanza King territory with the consent of the interested parties. Today's shipment was the first ore mined, and the strike has every appearance of an important one.

VOLUME OF TRANSACTIONS ON MARKET IS SMALL

No Notable Depression in Prices Experienced — Year-End Movement Has Come Unusually Early.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—The money situation continued to manifest its influence today by keeping down the volume of transactions in stocks rather than by any notable depression in prices. The market was so near the point of stagnation that there was little demand for loans on call, and the quoted rate was unaffected in a degree to correspond. The renewal rate was well maintained, however. The extension of the holiday in the London market through today took off a portion of the usual dullness and aggravated the dullness of the market. Aside from the immediate course of the money market there is a persistence of some anxiety over the working out of the commercial situation over the end of the year. A favorable development in this particular in some revival, as reported, in the demand of the smaller interior banks throughout the country for mercantile paper. Provision for large maturities in this field, which fall due early in the new year, is of great importance to the working out of conditions without breakdown at some points. Mills and wholesalers in various lines of trade are carrying large lines of commercial paper for customers with the certainty that any undue pressure for settlement might precipitate failures.

Reports of the New York trust companies of conditions on December 19, in response to the call of the state banking department, by comparison of the various items with those of the preceding call on August 22 reveal how general and severe was the pressure on these institutions during the period of the crisis. The heavy shrinkage in deposits and in loans is not at all confined to the few companies that were immediately subject to spectacular runs. The institutions having kept most of their reserve resources on deposit with the clearing house banks, the extent to which their resources have been impaired, makes a striking exhibit of the severe drain involved upon the banks in addition to the withdrawals of deposits of interior banks. The incidents of the day were few. Hopes of easier money were kept up by a story of the intention of the treasury department to relieve the pending withdrawals of government deposits from western banks, rather than form all in proportion owing to the indications of hoarding of cash by interior banks in the returns to the comptroller's office.

There was no official sanction for this report. There was a strong rebound in the foreign exchange, made by the rate for cable transfers especially reflecting the belated demand for remittance in time for the year-end necessities. The declaration of the dividend on Missouri Pacific to be paid in stock confirmed the expectation foreshadowed by the previous movement of the stock itself.

Pennsylvania was the subject of unfavorable rumors regarding the coming earnings report. Pressure continued on New York Central and American Sugar of the kind that has been in evidence for several days past. Railroad earnings in general were under discussion and the interest of the dividing was a main factor in the brave tone of the whole list. Delaware & Hudson was helped by the decision to maintain the dividends for the coming year at last year's rate. The weekly statement of the bank of France showed but slight changes in the various items and the statement of the Bank of England was postponed owing to the London holiday. The stock market was practically in a state of suspense during the latter part of the day, but prices gibbled up to the closing.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales par value $870,000. United States 2s advanced ½ per cent on call.

to stop a cough or cold is just as soon as it starts—then there will be no danger of pneumonia or consumption. Just a few doses of Ballard's Horehound Syrup taken at the start will stop the cough. If it has been running on for sometime the treatment will be longer, but the cure is sure. Sold by all dealers.

WHEAT MARKET STRONG

SHORTS ACTIVE BIDDERS, BUT OFFERINGS ARE SCARCE.

Scarcity of Wheat in Northwest Affects Market—Corn, Oats and Provisions Higher.

CHICAGO, Dec. 26.—Wheat prices on the local exchange advanced more than 1c today because of fresh reports of a scarcity of wheat in the northwest. At the close, wheat for May delivery was up 1c. Corn was up 1c, oats were 1c higher, and provisions were 5c@10c higher.

The wheat market was strong all day because of the alleged small stock in the spring wheat country. Shorts were active bidders, but offerings were scarce. There was some weakening by shorts who based their action on reports of the appearance of the Hessian fly in southern Kansas. The market closed strong. May opened at $1.00@1.00¼, declined to $1.00@1.00¼, advanced to $1.02¾@1.03¼, and closed at $1.02¾@1.03¼. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 1,000,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 968,000 bushels, against 930,000 bushels on the same day last year.

The feature of the corn market was the wide fluctuation in December delivery. Shorts were active bidders for that option and brought about an advance of 2c over the close of Tuesday. The poor condition of the new crop was the chief bullish influence. A large part of the gain was later lost on realizing sales, cash deliveries were strong as a result of the advance in December. The close was firm. December sold between 57¾ and 59, and closed at 57¾. May opened a shade to 1c higher at 58¼@58¾, advanced to 59¾, and closed at 59¾@59½. Local receipts were 270 cars, with contract grade 1 cars.

Liberal receipts of grain on the corn market also advantaged wheat. The market was dull for the greater part of the day. May opened ¼ lower at 53¾, advanced to 53¾, and closed at 53¾. Local receipts were 302 cars.

Provisions opened weak because of a poor decline in Hog Rogs, but the market soon rallied because of the strength of grain. At the close, May pork was up 2½ at $1.30@1.30½; lard was a shade higher at $7.77½@7.80; ribs were 2½ higher at $7.05@.

E PLURIBUS UNUM

The motto "E Pluribus Unum" never authorized by law to be placed on the coin of the United States, first appeared on an American coin in 1786. There was no United States mint then, and, in fact, no United States, the constitution forming the Union not having as yet been adopted. There was a private mint at Newburgh, N. Y., and the Pluribus Unum was first placed on a copper cent struck at that mint. Few collectors have specimens of this coin and it is valuable. In 1787 a New York goldsmith coined a piece of money which was known as the sixteen-dollar gold piece, and upon it the motto was stamped in this form, "Unum ex Pluribus." Only four of these coins are known to be in existence. They are valued at more than $2,000 each. New Jersey issued various copper coins in 1787 with the motto stamped upon them. A great many of the early coins, before there was any legal authority for national coinage, were made in England. Most of these were copper and were coined for different states, and all bore the words "E Pluribus Unum." The United States mint was established in 1792, but the use of the national motto of any of the gold, silver or copper coins was not authorized or directed by any of the provisions of the act establishing it. The motto remained on the early gold and silver coins until 1834, when it was omitted from the gold coins. In 1836 it was omitted from the 25-cent pieces, and in 1837 from all silver coins. It was not stamped on any coin again until it appeared on the nickel and the standard silver dollar.

GIRL WON ON 11,000-MILE TRIP

Sculptor Followed His Bride to Paris and Defeated Her Family's Plan for Marriage to Another.

From the New York American.

To be wooed from San Francisco to Paris and back again to New York, a courtship of 11,000 miles.

To be won in New York, where she was hurried from the fleet to the altar to prevent angry relatives from carrying her away.

That was the romantic experience of Laure de Ligny, a Parisian beauty, who has been secretly married to Robert Aitken, the New York sculptor. Mr. Aitken is famed for his beautiful medallings of famous men and women.

Mr. Aitken met Mlle. de Ligny in San Francisco. When her family learned of the attachment between the pair they instantly started with the young woman for Paris. Aitken followed to New York, missed the boat bearing the de Ligny family, but caught the next one.

Defeat again awaited him in Paris, for the De Lignys had planned a marriage for their daughter with one of their own nationality. But in spite of the opposition, an excellent understanding prevailed between the sweethearts before Aitken returned to America.

Seven months afterward Mlle. de Ligny left Paris, and before her parents had time to follow was on a liner bound for New York. At the dock here she was met by the sculptor, hurried to the city hall and the wedding ceremony performed. This was on Thanksgiving day.

They have been living since that time at Mr. Aitken's studio, 1947 Broadway. Only a few of the artist's close friends have known of the wedding.

Mrs. Aitken is the daughter of Louis de Ligny, the famous French inventor, who died in Paris a short time ago. She met the sculptor about two years ago, just when he had been brought into prominence through the monument he made for the navy, and which was dedicated by President Roosevelt. He was commissioned to make a bust of Mlle. de Ligny in marble, and when the girl saw the young sculptor she decided to learn the principles of the plastic art herself. The lessons did not proceed very rapidly, for the pair fell hopelessly in love at the beginning of the first afternoon's tuition.

Mr. and Mrs. Aitken were seen by a reporter in Mr. Aitken's studio.

"My people wanted me to marry some wealthy Frenchman, whom they considered good enough for the De Ligny family," said the bride. "I didn't like the idea at all. I don't care if I haven't a chateau and a title. I am perfectly happy with my American husband."

"And will you continue your artistic career?" she was asked. Mrs. Aitken then laughed merrily.

"Art? No! I had four lessons, and then I thought I'd rather marry the artist than be one myself."

Robert Aitken was born in San Francisco. His masterpiece in that city, called "Victory," and regarded as his masterpiece, was destroyed in the great fire. His statue of President McKinley is one of the many examples of his skill in marble, bronze and gold.

His studios and apartments in Paris contain the greater part of the studies and models of his work. He will return to France when the story of his elopement has subsided, for he has received marked recognition and praise for his paintings and sculpture in the Paris salon.

The library at the British museum which now contains between 3,000,000 and 4,000,000 volumes, is without exception the largest in the world, the only one which approaches it in size being the Bibliotheque Nationale, Paris; and it is interesting to note that for the accommodation of this immense number of books upward of forty-three miles of [illegible]

Banana Flour

The banana has long been known and esteemed one of the most nutritious of fruits, but heretofore it has been palatable in but one form—that is, eaten fresh. Now however, it is being made into a most delicious flour. Griddle cakes, waffles, breakfast food, bread and pastry are light, tasty, and easily digested when made of this flour. Why not try some?
